CATCH TROUT WITHIN METROPOLIS OF WILDS

Spokane Residents Have Fishing; Live Outdoors.

A city of 150,000 people that has good trout fishing within its city limits and Indians living in their tepees a mile and a half away is something that you cannot grasp unless you know the west. And even if you do Spokane would strike you as something of a surprise. It looks as though it had been built yesterday in what was a virgin wilderness the day before and yet made complete with street cars and electric lights and everything that you could find in a New England town, except, perhaps the cultured atmosphere.

The Spokaneites do not miss the cultured atmosphere. If you ask about it, they would probably tell you that they prefer the smell of the pines, for they are an outdoor living crew. A citizen of Spokane may attend a board of directors meeting in the heart of the city at 10 a. m. and at 4 p. m. he may be hunting bear. The mountains crowd right down upon the city, and there are fifty lakes within a radius of a hundred miles.

Spokane, like Rome, was not built in a day, but it was set up at a rate that makes all of those old saws about how long it takes to do things look hollow and meaningless. It was only in 1858 that the Indians got their first decisive defeat in this region, and the first locomotive arrived in 1881. By 1890 they had something of a town started, but it was wiped out by fire that year.

The real growth began when the river was turned into electric power. From the giant dynamo, electricity reached out through the canyons to hundreds of mines, driving the power trans into the bowels of the mountains, bringing wealth to the city which sits like a spider at the center of its mighty web of current.

DESCRIBES CITY OF EAST.

Yezd is Thiving City, Peculiarly Situated.

Yezd is the most progressive city of Persia. It is not much of a goal for the traveler who seeks the exotic, the flavor of the orient, or the atmosphere of Harun al Rashid's days, but it is interesting as an example of the possibilities and limitations of the modern Persian.

In point of location, Yezd can boast few natural advantages. The city lies in a somewhat barren plain. The water problem is in fact the worst that Yezd has to deal with for there are no streams with a dependable flow, and water even for drinking must be drawn from melting snows of the mountains by artificial canals called kanats.

A citizen of Yezd is a man of enterprise and energy, to a degree that shames most of his countrymen. He is of no narrow and provincial type; he is a far wanderer and voyager, a trader whose caravans tap the markets of Afghanistan and India, even of China, in spite of the hazards of robbery and the lack of any but the most primitive trade routes. Laden with opium and tobacco, with rare woods, rugs and copper pots, their caravans fare eastward, to return if Allah be kind, with no mean wealth, with tin and tea, with arms and jewels and the wares of the Celestial kingdom. Men who speak two or three European languages are not uncommonly found in Yezd, and the school systems are among the best in the orient. The children are said to be unusually quick to grasp new thoughts and new languages.

A newly contrived kitchen cabinet contains a rare combination, that of an electric range and a refrigerator, both of which are hidden from view by convenient doors when not in use.

These are the days when the patriotic gardener has to be patriotic if he keeps gardening.

EXPLAIN TRAITS OF FISH.

Experts Say Fresh Water is Known by Chemical Conditions.

How salt-water fishes determine where they are, and why fresh-water fishes can always find their way into rivers is made clear by Drs. V. E. Shelford and E. B. Powers. Their studies on the resistance of salt-water fishes to the decayed and decomposed things, lead to an explanation of their habits.

It appears that herring can sense difference in heat and cold as sense as a quarter of a degree or less. They appreciate the fact that only a trace of an acid or alkali is present in water. So sensitive are herring to acids and alkalis that the scientists propose that these and other fish be used to detect the chemicals instead of the litmus paper, which chemists use, and in the same manner that canary birds are used to discover traces of poison coal gas in mines and elsewhere.

In connection with the entrance of salmon into rivers and other bodies of water, Drs. Shelford and Powers say it is evident that they find their way by virtue of the presence or absence of acids and alkali.

Fish determine the direction they must go to fresh water even when hundreds of miles out at sea and find their way to bays, harbors and inlets when their mating season demands it, by the chemical conditions of the water.

It is not necessary to appeal to "instinct" to explain the return of certain salmon to certain rivers or the running of herrings in certain localities. These new chemical discoveries make it all clear that smell and touch are the sense most concerned, and these are highly developed in certain species.—Popular Science Monthly.

THE AUGUST SKY
Sparkling in splendor the Kite and the Dipper
Crossed the black welkin and Scorpio's star,
Lit on the runway stag, herdman and skipper,
When I was dust, perhaps, bed rock or spar,
Dust, fire, or dew, or the wind of the foam of some sea coast unknown, on the deep,
Somewhere I lived in creation's adorning,
Still, on the nights when Joan walked with her sheep,
What was I dreaming and when 'd I wander,
All through the August before I could know?
Crystal the Archer swept high over yonder;
Close to the zenith burned Vega's blue snow,
Glory on glory the night's Coronation,
Circled the heavens before I was born,
Shone while I slept in the Soul of Creation,
Somewhere when Ruth wept for home in the Corn,
Glory on glory, the night's Coronation,
Throbbled in a beauty past dream and desire,
Proud as I slept in the soul of creation,
Breath of the morning or bed rock of fire.

Ask Anyone Who Has Used It.
There are families who always aim to keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house for use in case it is needed, and find that it is not only a good investment but saves them to end of suffering. As to its reliability, ask anyone who has used it.—adv.

LUTHER BURBANK

A saddle horse recently led Luther Burbank to discovery of a new grass which promises to play an important part in the forage problem confronting the nation.

APPEALS TO ALL WOMEN

President Says Avoid Loss of Perishable Foods.

Washington, D. C.—President Wilson, in a letter issued through Secretary of Agriculture D. F. Houston, appeals to the women of the nation to take immediate steps to avoid a threatened loss of vast amounts of perishable fruits and vegetables.

The president says: "Every bushel of potatoes properly stored, every pound of vegetables put by for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory—add that much to hasten the end of the conflict. We must aim to consume these things locally so far as possible and thus relieve the pressure in transportation agencies, freeing them for the more efficient handling of products required for military purposes. What we cannot personally consume we must conserve."

POTATOES BECOME NEGOTIABLE PAPER

Washington, D. C.—Many burlesque comedians who jeered last winter about taking potatoes at the box office built better than they knew. The potato has been elevated to a much higher dignity. It is a non-perishable staple and it enjoys the privileges of the federal reserve act. It is negotiable. It can be "checked." It has been the subject of a conference between Louis D. Sweet of the food administration and Gov. Harding of the federal reserve board.

They have agreed upon a plan for classifying the potato among the non-perishable vegetables and now loans on warehouse receipts for potatoes may be rediscounted at federal reserve banks.

WARNS PUBLIC AGAINST POISON COURT PLASTER

Washington, D. C.—Court Plaster said to have been distributed by German sympathizers has been found on chemical analysis by the department of justice to contain tetanus germs. Attorney General Gregory warned the public to use only court plaster from reliable sources. The following statement was issued:

"The department of justice without sharing in any sensational view as to the manner in which sticking plaster became infected, states that some of the samples submitted and analyzed have been thereby shown to contain tetanus germs. The public is consequently cautioned against purchasing this remedy except from approved sources. The warning is particularly directed against purchases in small packages from street peddlers and vendors."

Mother Gives Up Six Children.
Chicago, Ill.—Mrs. Marie Palady has only two children today. She had eight. After years of poverty and hard work, Mrs. Palady, whose husband deserted her, finally acknowledged that she could not combat the rising cost of living and inserted an advertisement in a foreign language paper asking that six of the children be adopted and given homes.

The six were taken to their new homes, leaving Mrs. Palady only a son, 16, and a daughter, 14. The family came here from a Louisiana farm.

Doubtless the way of the transgressor is hard, but the people who travel thence never seem to get very homes.

Every man would soon become wealthy if he could liquidate his financial obligations by paying compliments.

Don't think that by being miserable here on earth you will be any happier in heaven—if you happen to get there.
